

The Automa Lorem hangs suspended from the Translator, a Shard Resonator of untold power; ...dreaming silently.

"...When memory is gone, will it be that we never existed, or is our time here the memory?

The dream of some other time and place?..."

Metadox Collectors stand ready; beset on all sides by the scourge of the outland hordes ;
 rogue Timekeepers; and other Shard Sensitive who threaten the Order and Peace of Metadox;
 the Right Hand Path ; which has been so hard won since the time of the First Fall.

"...This is what I wanted you to see... This is the lost history that your Metadox would hide from you. The world you have known has been a lie, a half truth. The voices of our ancestors speak to us through our dreams, and tell us of the time before the First Fall. We have kept the knowledge of the Shard awake, out here in the outlands, while the rest of the world slept through the dark times..."

Bridgeland market was always bustling with activity back in the old days, being so close to the Metadox Capital, Karst.
 On clear days you could even see Metadox Tower looming ever present in the distance,
 A symbol of the new peaceful and prosperous age.

"...The Timekeepers ... The shard sensitive we have sent out to bring fear into the hearts of the people.
 How many of the purificant have we ..turned.. against our own people?
 How many of those have sought refuge here in fear of the timekeepers, only to end up here?
 So that we could rule in fear. But now we live by that same fear. Fear of Lorem..."
